witness was then shown a diagram of the Billiou place, and explained it to the Court and jury. He continued: We all were through supper, and were in conversation about a picnic, when Hong went back to the kitchen, and immediately a shot was fired. Just as I was arising from the table a shot struck me in the shoulder and I fell on the floor. I saw the gun the next moment. It was fired again, and Mrs. Billiou fell to the floor. Annie then ran out of the door that leads onto the porch, and I heard some one running after Maud shut the door, and I put my foot against it. Annie came back to the dining-room, and Hong went back around the porch. I told Annie to look out of the door that leads onto the porch. She did so, and immediately another shot was fired, passing very close to her. Annie then opened the window and Maud jumped out. In a few moments licks were struck on the door that leads from the kitchen to the dining-room. Defendant broke the door open, and I saw an ax in his hand. The gun was standing near him. I heard some one coming. It was James White. Mr. Papst came next.

GLADSTONE AGAIN.

Philippic Against Coercion.

LONDON, July 7th.—In the House of Commons to-night, on a motion being made for the third reading of the crimes bill, Gladstone, amid prolonged cheers made a counter-motion that the bill be read the third time this day three month hence. Gladstone said the bill was the Conservatives' alternative to home rule, and therefore bore a different aspect from the visit. He will visit Atlanta in October, and after that his whole time will be given to preparing his message.

St. Louis, July 7th.—The President's letter to Mayor Francis, withdrawing his acceptance of the invitation of the people of St. Louis to visit the city during the G. A. R. Encampment, has stirred up a hot and diversified expression of opinion. The committee that took the invitation to the court, to-day announced the result of his investigation into the liability of J. B. Mannix and his bondsmen, as assignee of the estates of Archbishop Purcell and his brother, Father Edward Purcell. He found that the Mannix investment in bonds and stocks was for his private profit, and not for the benefit of the estates; that he was entitled to no compensation for his exceptional crime. Balfour has disregarded all precedents requiring that the in-troduction of a coercion measure should be prefaced by a statement of exceptional crimes. Gladstone maintained that the increase of crime in 1886 over 1885, in view of the agricultural distress in Ireland, was exceedingly small. Comparing the officials of the Tory Government in power in Ireland in 1885 with those in power the first five months in 1887, there was a marked decrease in the amount of agrarian crime yet in 1885 they had refrained from intro ducing coercion measures from motives of policy. A comparison of past and present statistics afforded no shadow of justifica-tion for the present measure. Another ontrast was that the past Parliament had been nearly unanimous in assenting to coer-cion, while this bill was passed by a large majority of the people of the country—a majority that was not likely to diminish [Cheers.] If Parliament retained any regard for the traditions of the country, or party uses the measure would be abandoned. What could they urge to warrant such an invasion of a people's liberties? While resenting the imputation that the Liberals had done the same thing, he would admit that past measures had been failures. Among the differences between the past and present was the extra-ordinary proposal of making the Viceroy master of the whole law and of the rights of associations. In the present century such a proposal was an outrage on every principle of public duty. Moreover, new offenses were created under the measure. The Attorney-General for Ireland had admitted, and it was too late to deny, that the bill aimed at the suppression of exclusive dealing that was far more pardonable in the weak and poor than in the rich and powerful, but it was the exclusive dealings of the poor against the strong at which the bill aimed. If a new crime were created, a measure for its suppression should operate impartially.

Gladstone spoke at great length, and made one of his most powerful speeches.

The Ogden rate shows the longest line, and they shorten both east and west of it to the minimum at either and west of it to the minimum at either end. He asks: "Why are the rate points west of Ogden less than the Ogden rates? Because if they were greater no freight would take the overland route for those points, but it would go around to San Francisco by the Isthmus or Cape Horn, and come back eastward to its destroyer. Horn, and come back eastward to its destination by a short rail haul on the Central Pacific, for less money. These points advantage to the State school-book sys-

me. reduce the effending fates between Omaha

Now bear in mind that every cent of this reduction is a loss out of net revenue, for the expense of doing the business remains unchanged. Also, two other facts, not indicated by the table, but of great importance in determining the question. First, the amount of local business, apon which rates would have to be reduced, is probably three times as great as the through tudness in question; second, the net revenue on this through business, done at such low rates, is probably not a third of the net revenue which wou'd be lost upon the local, pound for pound, by the reduction. Evidently the profits to the railroads would be as nine to one in favor of simply abandoning the entire through business. of the rafiroads would be as nine to one in favor of simply abandoning the entire through business, and confining itself to the local. They could not even force any compromise with the water routes, for the latter would appreciate that the railroads could not afford to enter into competition, but were bound hand and foot by the tying together of local and competitive.

Now let us see who would be benefited by this result. We will suppose that the law was passed at the request of Ogden, which felt itself outraged by having to pay $214 for what San Francisco ge's for $125 or $7 cents. Ogden must still pay its $214, and the railroad which does its business will lose one-ninth of its net revenue, and run one-third less trains. Evidently Ogden is rather injured than benefited. As to San Francisco, it must then get its freight entirely by Isthmus and sail. So that the only persons benefited are the carriers by water, between New York and San Francisco, who are relieved from rail competition, or have it handicapped with severe penalties. Should we join the ends of our lines representing rates in the table, we would have a line which we might call the curve of rates. It rises as it leav a navigable waters, and falls as it approaches them. There is an apparent exception in that there is no point higher than Chicago between that place and New York. There were such points in former tariffs, and during rate wars there will be again; but the shortness of the distance, the proximity of lakes and rivers on each side of the line, the number of sharply competing railroads, the cheapness of coal and iron, and the dense population of the country have enabled the railroads to take them out when they are at peace and can maintain rates. But over long lines, across mountains and deserts, and in thinly settled countries the curve of rates will always rise over the interior. I think it safe to predict, on the trans-Now let us see who would be benefited by this tries the curve of rates will always rise over the interior. I think it safe to predict, on the trans-continental lines, the curve will always retain its present general character, while transportation by land remains much more costly than by ce an. Railroads may be forbidden by law, and un-er heavy penalties, to work for such long-haul usiness, but the rates will be there all the ame; and no one will be benefited by the railad's exclusion from them but the Pacific Mail amers and the clippers around the Horn. Mr. Alexander, writing before the interstate-commerce-legal experiment, now proves to have been a prophet. The arguten upon the subject.

MINERAL LANDS.

A Suit that Involves Title to Lands in Sierra, Placer, El Dorado and Nevada Counties.

[SPECIAL TO THE RECORD-UNION.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7th .- The trial for him in the end, since the non-exercise States District Judge Hoffman's Court vesterday. Towle Brothers is a well-known a mistake is not impossible, but highly imfirm that has been doing business in Placer | probable. county (at Dutch Flat and Alta) for more than a quarter of a century.

The issue involved is one in which all occupants of railroad grant lands in the mineral district of the Sierras in Placer, El Dorado, Sierra and Nevada counties are more or less interested. The suit is to re-cover title to 640 acres of land in Placer nty, which was purchased in April, 1875, by Towle Brothers from the Central Pacific Company. The latter possessed the land by virtue of a patent issued on the original grant by the Government in October, 1867. Now it is set up that the patent was issued through "fraud, inadvertance and error," and that the land was known to be mineral land at the time the patent was issued. The railroad grant excepted from the transfer from Government to company all mineral lands known to exist at the time of the issuance of the patent.

The land mentioned is about five miles ortheast of Dutch Flat, between the and American rivers. It is described as ection 7, township 16 north, range 11 east, Mount Diablo meridian. Some prospector claim that recently a gold-bearing ledge was found by them on a portion of the sec-tion. They brought the matter to the attention of the Government, and several months ago Attorney-General Garland to be mineral land at the time of the issuance of the patent, and that the subsequent liscovery of mineral cannot affect the title. Many witnesses are present from all porons of the State, subpensed on both sides to testify to the character of the land prior to twenty years ago. The Government has secured the attendance of a num-ber of old miners who lived in Placer in those early days, who, it is understood, will testify to having mined on the section in dispute. On the other hand, de-fendants have subpensed miners who wear that no gold was ever heard of in the locality until quite recently. The number of witnesses on both sides is quite large and hail from Siskiyou to San Diego. The railroad company has now no interest Our contemporary is right. No man in those days had title to the land, nor for eighteen years afterwards. This land now in dispute is all in section Our location was made in July, 1859.

We worked five or six weeks more or less. My partner got sick. I bought him out, nd he went home. The Galena Company did some work; I don't know how much. Pierce Shotwell bought the interests of his partners, and he and I consolidated our round under the name of Galena mine. We then commenced running a tail race to wash our mine. In cutting the race we had to blast out a number of bowlders. We ould not put up hydraulic rig at that time We struck pipe clay and had to quit. We then cut timbers to run a tunnel to reach the mine. Pierce Shotwell then bought an interest in the Enterprise mine. I did nothing with the mine. Shotwell sold his examination into the circumstances con nterest in the Galena to Michael Murphy April 9, 1860.

Recess until 2 P. M. At the afternoon session General Carey withdrew Mr. Skehan, and placed upon the witness stand Seldon Hetzel, Register of the United States Land Office at Sacra-mento. Said the land in question was in his district. From a record in his office appeared a patent for section 7, which was ssued to the railroad company October 2,

Mr. Sargent said the patents came direct from Washington to the railroad company and not through the local land office. He objected to the testimony, saying the record was the best evidence and should be pro-

AN ARIZONA STORM

It Sweeps Over the Desert and Plays Havoc in Tucson. Copyright, 1887, by the California Associated Press Tucson, July 7th.-The most terrific The first premonition of what was coming were the great clouds of dust that appar ently rose on the plains between here and Fort Lowell. They gradually approached the city like a dense fog bank. The wind increased to a hurricane, and about 3:30 it struck the city with great violence, breakng in windows and unroofing houses. The Citizen's building, on account of its hight, was among the first to suffer. The signs were blown down, and the en tire east end of the building was unroofed. The Cosmopolitan Hotel fared worse. Most of the roofing over Masonic Hall was blown off and piled in the street below The immense show-window of Zeckendorf & Co's, store was driven in and broken into a thousand pieces. The flag-pole over the Masonic Hall broke in two. The roo of the Palace Hotel was badly damaged. There is scarcely a house in the town that has not suffered, either by wind or water. The only casualities so far reported were from flying glass, the most severe being to a little son of H. Meneger, living in the outh end of the city. He was struck in the back near the shoulder-blade. The glass penetrated so deep that it had to be drawn out by force. One of Zeckendorf's clerks received a cut over the nose, also from a piece of flying glass.

Why the "Royal" is the Best. The improved method by which it has been made possible to produce pure cream of tartar, has had an important bearing upon the manufacture of baking powder. the process heretofore generally employed it has been found impossible to remove all impurities, more particularly the tartrate of lime, which remained to such an extent as to greatly impair the quality of the crean of tartar, and to seriously interfere with the strength and wholesomeness of the baking powders into which it entered. In the new process, which is owned by the Royal Baking Powder Company New York, and exclusively employed i its extensive tartar works, the importer crude grape acid is so treated as to remove all vestige of tartrate of lime or other im purities, giving a product before unknownchemically pure cream of tartar. By the employment of these superior facilities, the Royal Baking Powder Com-pany has made the Royal Baking Powder, as the chemists all certify, of the highes degree of strength, "absolutely pure" and wholesome, and with an always uniform leavening power. It is for these reasons that the "Royal" never fails to produce bread, biscuit, cakes, etc., that are ight, sweet, digestible, and wholesome the eating of which is never followed by indigestion, or any of those physical discomforts attendant upon the partaking of improperly prepared food. In rendering possible the production of a baking powder possessed of these qualifications, the im-proved method of refining cream of tartar

The Davisville Killing Accidental.

District Attorney Sprague and Coroner Stephens, of Yolo county, made a thorough examination into the circumstances connected with the killing of Mike Lynch at Davisville on the Fourth. From the evidence elicited before the Coroner's jury, it appears that John Murnane—and not Burdam, as reported—was sitting in a chair on the sidewalk, under the influence of liquor, when Mike Lynch came along, and either staggered against him or struck him and called him an opprobious name. Murnane got up and pushed Lynch off the sidewalk, causing him to fall into the gutter, striking his head on a knot in a plank, fracturing his skull. Murnane then walked off indifferently, remarking that he had "served the —— right." The District Attorney did not think there was evidence to hold Murnane, and so instructed the Coroner's jury, who found that the cause of death was a fracture of the skull; that the frective was a fracture of the skull; that the frective was a fracture of the skull; that the freedown was a fracture of the skull; that the freedown was a fracture of the skull; that the HERIFF'S SALE.-IN THE SUPERIOR

An exciting scene took place at Ogder on Tharsday morning, when a Sister of Mercy pleaded for protection to the people about the raflroad depot. She was accompanied by a man and woman, who she said were taking her away against her will. They said that she was insane and that they were taking her to St. Louis. Her name was Mary Catherine Fitzgerald. She was for a number of years one of the resident Sisters ia Sacramento and San Francisco, and was well known. A good house marked the production by the Wessells Company of the melodrama 'A Celebrated Case," last night. The play is one appealing to the tenderest sympathies. and is invested with strong human interest. Mr. Wessels, as the false Count de Morny appeared to excellent advantage. It is a character in which he won especial success at the East. The strength or vigor of his method leads him to adopt in the opening of the third act, a style too studied and tragic, when the demand is for the coolness of cunning, and the ease and manner of a gentleman in a drawing-room in the courtly period of the play. It is a defect sufficiently prominent to invite challenge of the dramatic method employed. Mr. Deal was thoroughly good as Duke d'Aub-terre, and Mr. Rutledge proved himself to be, as Jean Renaud (soldier and galley slave, and falsely accused and unjustly convicted of crime), a strong and expericonvicted of crime), a strong and experi-enced actor. His personation of the vic-tim of wrong gave tone to the entire per-formance. Miss Alice Carman, in the lead-ing female role, surprised her friends. The part makes demands supposed to be be-yond her capacity, but, much to the pleas-urable disappointment of the audience, her personation of the character of Adrienne was natural pathetic strong and full of feel was natural, pathetic, strong and full of feel-ing. Little Blanche Ficks was "the child" of the play and gave her few lines creditably Logan Paul's Sergeant O'Rourke was a rounded and complete piece of work. Miss Rossmore was fair as Valentine. If the leading men—Wessells, Rutledge, Paul and Deal—had adequate male support, the company would be a very much better working body. On the female side the credit must be maintained wholly by Carman and Postman and Postma and Rossmore, and neither lays claims to lead, but the former certainly last evening proved that for this play she has fitted into a dramatic niche excellently that was sup-posed to be above her reach. The management has in the company enough good stock leaders, if fortified by good support, to make a successful season. The "stock" experiment is entitled to a fair trial here, but it must be good throughout. The 'Celebrated Case" will be repeated to-night.

The City Water Question.

EDS. RECORD-UNION: I believe it to be generally understood that when a man is worsted in an argument it is proper to call his opponent "a liar." A little discretion may be necessary, but it is generally safe at Dunnigan, by a combined harvester, is improving. The injury was a very severe laid back its ears and called me a liar because the prevention of the mercury of the mercu system and the warm weather are taken into consideration.

The awning in front of the drug store on the southwest corner of Sixth and J cause I stated that the river water is bad. I do not think that people who are so ready to give the lie ever drink water, but if they do drink Socramento water I can understand why the judgment of the Bee is so low in streets is teeling the effects of the boom, matters of social slum and suggestive nastithe normal temperature for that day. The highest and lowest temperature was 94° and 56°, with gentle southerly winds and I understand the above quotation to clear weather. Yesterday was the eleventh mean—if it can be made to mean anything -that in the near future we must have better water as a matter of good policy and to preserve health. And yet the fellow says been passed upon by the same parties the Bee would quote it and declare for it; but I speak for myself, and defy your conten porary to produce the certificates of the medical men who say the Sacramento river is clear and pure. I want to know who The following officers of Sacramento they are, for if my family get sick I want I wish to tell the Bee something it may jury and a disgrace to state what can be proven to the contrary by anyone who will Latest News in Corsets.

The very fact that we have added a new Corset to an already large collection is in itself an indication that the article in question must possess strong merit.

It does. So confident is the maker of its virtues, that he says upon the cover of each box: "If, after wearing ten days, the purchaser does not find this Corset the most comfortable and perfect-fitting she has ever worn, it may be returned to the manufacturer, through the medium of the merchant, and the money will be refunded."

The Corset is made of fine jean, cross stayed, and with this peculiarity, that the bones are sewed on to the outer covering, leaving the inside smooth. This improvement also adds greatly to the durability of the Corset.

It is an unusually shapely and well made article, and we believe it will pay those in need of a medium-price Corset to see this before buying other brands. Price, $1 25.

SUPERIOR COURT. Department One-Van Fleet.

THURSDAY, July 7th.
Estate of H. B. Chatfield, deceased—On trial. Department Two-L. D. Freer. THURSDAY, July 7th.
People vs. T. C. Casey, burglary—T. Pockman appointed an elisor to summon thirty persons to serve as jurors, to report in Court at 10 A. M. tomorrow, to which time the case is continued.
Potter vs. Townsend—Continued for the term,

Breaking Down and Building Up. When a man breaks down in the matter of physical strength, the question of its recovery depends in great measure upon the length of time he allows to elapse before opting medicinal means to recuperate it A tonic, which gives a speedy and powerful impulse to the processes of digestion and assimilation, is the best auxiliary he can employ, and he should resort to it promptly. The most reliable dependence of the feeble, the aged and the nervous has ever proved to be Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant of national reputation and proven worth, commended by medical men of distinction, not only for building up a broken-down system, but as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, fever and ague and kidney trouble. While not claimed to be a panacea, it is a mos useful and comprehensive household rem edy. It is, moreover, eminently safe as well as effective. Mrs. Lena Johnson, of Portland, Or. while engaged in washing windows, fell from the second-story window, impaling herself on a picket fence. Some of the pickets went clear through her stomach and intestines, causing death.

A Toilet Luxury

In every respect, Ayer's Hair Vigor never fails to restore the youthful freshness and color to faded and gray hair. It also prevents the hair from falling, eradicates dandruff, and stimulates weak hair to a vigorous growth.

Five years ago, my hair, which was quite gray, commenced falling, and, in spite of cutting, and various preparations faithfully applied, became thinner every day. I was finally persuaded to try Ayer's Hair Vigor. Two bottles of this remedy not only stopped the hair from falling, but also restored its orig-- Eli F. Doane, Machias, Me.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gezette.

Cancer of the Tongue.

My wife, some three or four years ago, was troubled with an ulcer on the side of her tongue near the throat. The pain was incessent, causing loss of sleep and producing great nervous prostration. Accompanying this trouble was rheumatism. It had passed from the shoulders and centered in the wrist of one hand, she almost losing the use of it. Between the suffering of the two life had grown burdensome. By the use of a half dozen small-sized bottles of Swift's Specific she was entirely relieved and restored to health. This was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease.
